EMMA ROBERTS TO GIVE CONCERT HERE WEDNESDAY EVENING

Miss Emma Roberts, whose visit in March, was postponed, will give a concert in the chapel tonight at 8:00 o'clock.

Miss Roberts, originally from Kentucky, received her college education at Randolph-Macon. Miss Glas when she was a teacher there, knew her. After her college days she was taught by Miss Mary Callender and given a firm foundation upon which to build her future greatness in art. Since she made her debut, Miss Roberts has been highly praised, admired and loved.

Miss Roberts singing has been acclaimed and highly praised by the best music critics in America. Of her singing and voice, N. J. Henderson says, "Miss Roberts has one of the few great voices that have come before the public in recent years, and she uses it with all the finished beauty of the genuine old Italian school."

Miss Doerschuk To Speak On Vocational Guidance

On May 10th and 11th, Miss Beatrice Doerschuk will be at Sweet Briar to give information about various occupational fields to those students who are interested in the question of what they shall do after college.

Miss Doerschuk comes well equipped to be of real service, for she has been assistant Dean of Women at Oberlin College, assistant Director of the Bureau of Vocational Information in New York City, Research Worker of the Welfare Council of New York City, and at present she is connected with Sarah Lawrence College, the new Junior College at Bronxville, N. Y., which will be opened next October.

Miss Doerschuk will speak in Convocation on Thursday, and during the rest of her stay here she will be available for interviews. Elizabeth Priserat should be consulted in arranging times for interviews.

Sweet Briar Party Has Organized For European Tour

MAY COURT MAKES DAY GALA OCCASION

The students, faculty and friends of Sweet Briar, against a background of fresh green woodland and sunshine, did homage on Friday, to Marian Taber, the lovely May Queen.

The Queen was announced by two white-clad heralds, with a canopy of trumpets. The group of the maids of the court were of shaded chiffon graduated from pink bodices through a several-toned skirt to a deep helio tinge in the last tier. They wore satin bows, the color of their hair, shade, caught at one side and falling to the ground in graceful lines. Exquisite flowers, slippers and hose completed the very effective costumes.

Marian Taber, the Queen, with a page bearing her long court train, was regal in white satin, with a shower of lilies-of-the-valley.

After the crowning of the Queen, there was a Maypole Dance, by demure lads and lassies in Greenway costumes.

The pageant, The Garden of Romance, followed and told the story of Bacchus and his infatuation for Thalia.

The music by the Sweet Briar Orchestra included selections from Brahms, Liszt, Grieg, Seldman, Kreisler.

Dance May Day Night Completes Day's Celebration

"A good time was had by all," was the unanimous declaration of everybody who attended the May Day Dance Friday night, May 4th.

Those girls on the decoration committee of the dance deserve much credit for the hours of work and the effect produced. There were large May Baskets on the wall of the Refectory filled with different colored paper flowers. In the center of the room was an old-fashioned nosegay of orchids and pink roses. From this there were streamers of pastel shades of paper going to each corner of the room. The whole scene was an appropriate setting for the orchid shaded dresses of the girls of the court.

The first figure was the court figure, led by Marian Taber with her uncle, Mr. Jones. All the girls in the court took part with their escorts.

After intermission, Sarah Everett with Stutes Lee led the Old Girls' Figure, which was very effective. The dance continued until 2:50 and broke up to the strains of "Home, Sweet Home."

The music was furnished by Tommy Thompson's Orchestra, of Washington, D. C.

Additions To Next Year's Faculty Announced

The Classical Department announces that Miss Mary J. Pearl will be a new instructor in Latin and Greek next year.

Miss Pearl, whose home is in Detroit, Michigan, received her undergraduate training at the University of Toronto, where she received an A. B. degree. She spent two years in the study of the Classics at the University of Michigan where she took her M. A. degree. She was chosen as one of the three ablest graduate students to go to Rome with Professor Kelsey to assist him in the work of revising his famous Man-Kelley Pappas, the spent three years in Rome on this work which was interrupted by the death of Dr. Kelsey, but which will eventually be published.

During the past year Miss Pearl has been continuing her graduate study at the University of Michigan, and has passed most, if not all, of her examinations for her Ph. D. degree. Miss Pearl is a young woman with a very attractive personality and the Classical Department is happy in securing her as an addition to the staff. She has been at Sweet Briar for a short time, but will become an associate professor in the department of Modern Languages next year, taking the place of Miss Frances Baker Russell. Prof. Russell, who is famous for her teaching on account of it, left Sweet Briar after receiving her B. A. degree from Columbia University, majoring in French and English, and followed that with graduate work at the Universities of Colorado, Chicago, and Minnesota.

Where she took her M. A., and Johns Hopkins where she received her Ph. D.

Miss Pearl has had a year at the Sorbonne and College de France in Paris, and has made a careful study of the teaching of modern languages in the French Lycee and

Monday Night Musical To Feature Mendelssohn

Special numbers from the incidental music to "Midsummer Nights Dream," by Mendelssohn, will be given next Monday evening at the usual music hour. This music, which was written by Mendelssohn at the age of seventeen and upon which, during his formative years, was never surpassed by any of his later works.

Mr. Martin will play the "Overture and Scherzo," and the Glee Club will sing the chorus "Ye Spotted Snakes," a charming number and some voices, having two obligato solo parts.

HORSE SHOW PROVES SUCCESSFUL FEATURE IN MAY DAY EVENTS

The May Day Horse Show, held for the benefit of the Student Drive, lived up to our best expectations. By ten o'clock a large crowd had gathered and the riders were greeted with cheers and applause as they rode out into the ring.

Class I was the hunt teams. Dressed in white riding breeches, black coats and red ties, they presented a trim and gay appearance. The tandems came next, and the spectators were thrilled to see one girl managing two horses—walking, trotting, and cantering.

The Green Hunters followed. They rode easily and went skimming lightly over the hurdles. In this class Molly O made Win West imitate the Prince of Wales, but she was soon on again, and cleared the jumps without a further mishap.

The pair-riding was very well done. All during the Horse Show, photographers, amateurs and professionals, were kept busy taking pictures. The Paramount camera-man caused much amusement by taking pictures of the audience waving their hands and supposedly cheering for their favorites.

Mrs. Rounsvell, Archery Champion, Speaks Here

A meeting was held in the Gym Wednesday noon to hear a talk on Archery, given by Mrs. Philip Rounsvell, Archery Champion.

Mrs. Rounsvell was introduced by Miss Rogers as one of the highest ranking women archers of the United States. She was third place in 1926, and fourth in 1927, in the National Championship. She holds the Metropolitan and Southern Championships and is, Miss Rogers said, remarkable as one of the few women who really hunt, besides using bows and arrows for target practice.

Juniors Score Dramatic Hit In "Ann's Little Affair"

The Junior class presented "Ann's Little Affair" by Harry Osborne on Thursday, May 8th.

The excellent acting and staging added much to the clever plot and humorous lines. In the production, the center attraction was Ann Lane, a secretary to a would-be society dame. The necessity of filling a place at a dinner party and the need of a chaffer, brought Peter Reynolds, a wealthy young millionaire, into the Bonner household. When they were first in Ann's suitcase, having been placed there by the jealous son of the household, disclosures were made, after which Ann and Peter Reynolds left to be married.

The play was well directed by Mary Shelton. It brought to light some new talent in the dramatic line. The acting was good and speaks well for the future success of the players and the director.

Miss Walnwright Attends Convention Of Music Club

Miss Walnwright attended the Virginia Federation of Women's Music Clubs in Danville last week.

At this meeting a contest of Glee Clubs was held. Sweet Briar competed, and all did well in the work. The prize went to a High School. Other clubs competing were those from Sullins, Randolph-Macon, Fredericksburg, Teachers College, Harrisonburg Teachers College, and Farmville Teachers College. The Sweet Briar Glee Club hopes to enter the contest next year.

Dr. J. Jerrold Noble, Organist and choirmaster of St. Thomas' church in New York, was the judge.

Dr. Noble spoke of the educational value of music and the general interest now being taken in the singing of better music by groups of singers in America. He said that of the tremendous growth of chorus singing in England, and said that millions of people throughout the British Isles are singing in choruses.

In the Stadium at football games in England he said the great crowd singing good music under the leadership of directors in different parts of the stadium.

Registrar's Notice

The Registrar's office calls attention once more to the notice concerning registration for classes next fall, which is to take place this week. This notice, which Miss Dutton read in convocation, has also been printed in last week's NEWS.

Seattle, Wash. (By New Student Service) College Humor is no longer a dictator of American collegiate wit, so far as the Western Association of College Comics is concerned. The editors and managers of these publications, in convention at the University of Washington, voted to break their contracts which give College Humor sole reprint rights.

"Our reason for breaking the Contract," said Albert Salisbury, president of the association, "is that we feel the College Humor is painting a picture of flaming youth which is not real, and which gives to the average reader a false idea of college life."

Athletic Notes

Track Meet To Be Held This Friday.

The Track Meet will be held on Friday afternoon at 2:30. The class teams will be chosen from those successful in the preliminaries, which have been held for the past week and a half.

May Sixteenth Is Date Set For Lake Day

May Sixteenth has been decided on for Lake Day. The date of this event was changed from fall to spring, because of the increased interest in swimming during the spring. Now that warm weather is here, and the lake is open every afternoon from quarter of four to four-thirty, everyone is urged to come out and practice for the coming events on Lake Day.

Hike To High Peak Will Be On May Nineteenth

There will be the annual hike to High Peak on Saturday, May 19th, so plan for it now, and watch the bulletin board to sign up for it. No hike is scheduled for this week-end because of the Track Meet and the Sophomore Show, but if any one wants to make up points and cannot find a hiking leader, she can get permission from Gwendolyn Olcott to be appointed leader for the hike.

Movie Gives New Form Of Tennis Instruction.

A Tennis movie was given Tuesday night under the auspices of the Athletic Association. The movie consisted of demonstrations by well-known experts in slow motion of the various strokes, forehand, backhand, job and serve. Explanations accompanied each of the strokes as they were illustrated.

Besides those belonging to Tennis classes there was a large number of students interested in the game who profited by the points given.

Mrs. Rounseville, Archery Champion, Speaks Here.

Mrs. Rounseville stayed Wednesday afternoon instructing the archery classes until four o'clock.

In her brief talk Mrs. Rounseville emphasized the growing importance of Archery in the field of sports and the position, which, contrary to a great deal of public opinion, it holds along with the major sports. She wanted the girls to know particularly that, "Archery is not for invalids and for entrance into tournament it requires training as one gets more accurate due to the explanation that as it demanded control of muscles, Archery was a true form of exercise.

In conclusion Mrs. Rounseville urged all the Sweet Briar Archers to send in their scores for matches next year, as she said she could see that there was no need for stimulation of interest at Sweet Briar.

At the request of her audience Mrs. Rounseville shot an end which showed a perfect mastery and skill.

pairs. They galloped across the ring to their partners, caught a tossed ball, galloped back, threw it over the fence, tore back to a chair, dismounted, sat on the chair, returned to their partners who hurriedly scrambled up behind, and galloped back to the starting point. One gentleman was heard to say that the most remarkable thing to him was that the girls had all caught the balls tossed to them.

The Grand Finale was most spectacular. Mr. Blackwell led the riders out. All went over the hurdles; one after the other. Next two went over the hurdles together, and so on until finally all eight went over the middle jumps together. It was a fitting climax to a fine horse show.

BOOK SHOP PROVIDES FUNDS FOR STUDENTS

The Sweet Briar Book Shop is sponsored by the faculty, but the money for its maintenance comes from the purchase of books by the students. All books are sold below the commercial rates but of course there is always some profit. It is the belief of the faculty that such profit should go toward a fund for the benefit of student activities, or in certain cases toward the financial assistance of individual students.

So far the money from this fund has been used to erect the attractive gates at the entrance to the college, to install the soda fountain at the Tea House, to award annually two or three scholarships covering tuition expenses of $280 per year, and to meet other similar expenses. Last fall two of these scholarships were given, and at the beginning of the second semester, two more for the half year were granted to students whose families had met with financial reverses after their coming to college in the fall. It was not considered desirable to pay out all the money in the form of scholarships for the faculty does not wish to offer many of them as a means of attracting people to come to Sweet Briar; the money is to be used for students who are already here, and who without the assistance of a scholarship might have to withdraw from college. However, all though scholarships prove of great help, they are sometimes insufficient in cases where students' parents have suffered severe financial setbacks. So it has been deemed best by the faculty to keep the number of scholarships awarded few, and have the additional money for a fund upon which students may draw for assistance in meeting their living expenses. However, it did not seem quite fair that a few students should be almost wholly supported at college when their brothers are many others who are not. Many of their tuition, are badly in need of money to meet their living and personal expenses, as well as the many fees imposed upon students.

So a Loan Fund was established whereby students might borrow sums of money to meet expenses other than those of tuition which a scholarship may or may not have covered. The amount borrowed may be paid back any time within five years. The general plan provides for a student paying nothing the first year after she is out of college, but after some position providing a living salary has been obtained, the money may be paid back gradually.

There is now and has been for some time a sum of approximately $2,000 for the purpose, which will take care of reasonable demands of quite a few students.

The academic requirements are not so high as those for a scholarship, but a student must have received at least half merit grades. This concession was made because the faculty felt that some students who perhaps could not attain high academic standing were nevertheless deserving of assistance and who would doubtless derive much benefit from continuing their college education. This is especially true of students who expect to support themselves for a time at least after their graduation.

Having once secured a position with a living salary, students ought not to find any severe strain in paying back the money, as the amounts are small and the period for payment extends over several years. It has been decided that a girl ought not to burden herself with an indebtedness contracted for more than two years so the Loan Fund is confined to the use of Juniors and Seniors. The suggestion has been made that music tuition scholarships might come out of the Book Shop fund. The faculty who have complete control of the funds but who also feel a trusteeship for individual students general, are always pleased to have students' opinions on the subject, and in cases of necessity, students are urged to consult Dr. Scott, head of the Book Shop committee, about making use of the fund provided as well as for the student body in for their convenience.
